Hi Shelley,

I understand that the developer revised their submission on the 17th of October and the commissioner has set the hearing dates for 22-24 November. This seems extremely rushed given the revised submission timing and I'm having difficulties in participating in this process when there is not enough time to consider all the evidence. I also query whether the commissioners can thoroughly consider the matter without all submitters/experts having the time to respond to last-minute changes?

My request is for the hearings to be delayed to give sufficient time for myself (and presumably all other submitters) to give due consideration to the revised proposal, and all subsequent proposals should they be revised yet again. I trust you will forward my concerns to the appropriate person.

Cheers,

Sam Murray

Please be advised that the Commissioners have issued a Minute and this is now available under Minutes and Memoranda on the PDP Hearings webpage here:
