A warm welcome to our district

Welcome to your new home!

Whether you're here for a short stay or long term, we want to help you settle in and feel part of our special community.

Moving to a new place is exciting but can also have its challenges. This guide will help connect you with useful information on working, living and getting involved in your community.

A BIT ABOUT US...

The Queenstown Lakes District covers nearly 8,500 square kilometres and is world-renowned for its spectacular four-season lake and alpine scenery, diverse experiences and friendly locals.

While our resident population is around 52,800¹, we're a popular visitor destination and warmly welcome thousands of people a year. We have a strong community spirit and a vibrant mix of diverse cultures. Newcomers are a key part of our community life and include all people moving to our district to live, study, work and play. Our district is well known for welcoming many migrant workers every year who contribute to our economy and represent an important workforce. Many have moved here from around the world and other parts of Aotearoa New Zealand after falling in love with the place, people and lifestyle.

Our largest township, Queenstown, sits on the shores of Lake Wakatipu with Glenorchy at the top of the lake, Kingston at the southern end, and the old gold mining town of Arrowtown close by. Over the Crown Range, Wānaka sits beside Lake Wānaka and is surrounded by Cardrona, Hāwea, Luggate and Makarora.

Wherever you choose to live in our district, we hope you love it as much as we do. You'll find friendly neighbours, colleagues and services ready to help you every step of the way in your new adventure.

DID YOU KNOW?

Queenstown Lakes is one of the fastest growing districts in Aotearoa New Zealand with the population forecast to reach 100,558 by 2053.

Queenstown and Wānaka are the main towns in the district. Although Cromwell is close by, it is part of Central Otago District.

Māori culture, heritage and language

Queenstown Lakes District is a part of the Ngāi Tahu / Kāi Tahu² Takiwā. Kāi Tahu are the local iwi.

Their Takiwā (district/region) stretches for the majority of Te Waipounamu (South Island). Kāi Tahu, as an iwi, is governed by 18 'tribal councils' known as Papatipu Rūnaka. For the Queenstown Lakes District there are 7 rūnaka that have cultural authority. They are:

- Moeraki (North Otago)
- Puketeraki (Karitane)
- Ōtākou (Dunedin)
- Hokonui (Gore)
- Ōraka Aparima (Riverton)
- Waihōpai (Invercargill)
- Awarua (Bluff)

Kāi Tahu and their iwi and hapū predecessors (Ngāti/Kāti Mamoe, Waitaha) have a rich history within the Queenstown Lakes District accessing the abundance of Tūna (eels) as a food source and Pounamu (greenstone) as a high value treasure used for tools, jewellery and trade.

Māoritanga (Māori customs, cultural practices, and beliefs) is a big part of our national identity. While English is the most common spoken language in Aotearoa New Zealand, Māori and New Zealand Sign Language have special status under the law as official languages. Te Reo Māori is widely used and taught in schools so it helps to know some common Māori customs (tikanga), words and phrases.

² Te Reo Māori translation in this book: We use the local Kāi Tahu dialect which replaces 'ng' with a 'k' e.g., tākata (people) instead of tāngata. Māori have been the tangata whenua (the indigenous people of Aotearoa New Zealand) for over 1,000 years.

DID YOU KNOW?

Tāhuna is the name of Queenstown in Te Reo Māori, it means 'shallow bay'.

Wānaka comes from the South Island Māori word wānanga, which means 'sacred knowledge' or 'a place of learning'.

Learn more about Te Reo language.

DID YOU KNOW?

Te Tiriti o Waitangi / The Treaty of Waitangi is Aotearoa New Zealand’s founding document. It takes its name from the place it was first signed in the Bay of Islands, on 6 February 1840. This day is a public holiday in New Zealand. The Treaty is an agreement, in Māori and English, that was made between the British Crown and around 540 Māori rangatira (chiefs).

DID YOU KNOW?

When you call the ambulance, there could be charges.

If you're transported in an ambulance because of a medical emergency (a heart attack or a stroke, for example) you may have to pay a part charge.

If you have an accident-related injury that meets ACC criteria, ambulance transport within 24 hours of the injury is covered by ACC.

You can get an annual Ambulance Membership (costs less than one call out fee) which covers all part-charges for medical emergencies for a year.

Scan here for more information.

Housing

Our district is a popular destination so accommodation can be more limited and expensive compared to other parts of New Zealand.

We recommend you get references from previous landlords and start looking for somewhere to live well in advance of moving here.

When renting a property or room, a bond or deposit may be required. Rent is usually paid weekly, and if house sharing, flatmates usually share internet and energy bills.

DID YOU KNOW?

Manaaki is an information hub that helps to support people find suitable housing in our district.

Manaaki is a te ao Māori concept that encompasses hospitality, kindness and respect of others. It involves caring for and support those around you to create a sense of community.

Find information and resources to support housing challenges and tips for those who wish to help.

Backpackers and hostels

Queenstown and Wānaka are popular choices for backpackers and there are plenty of centrally located hostels where you can stay and socialise with like-minded travellers.

WĀNAKA/UPPER CLUTHA

📍 www.lakewanaka.co.nz/plan-your-trip/accommodation/backpackers

Staff accommodation

Ask about staff accommodation when you apply for a job. You usually share staff housing, and most do not allow children. Rent is usually taken off your pay.

Staff housing is covered under the Tenancy Act and has the same legal rights as other tenants including minimum standards for accommodation.

Renting a room or a flat

Whether you're here for the short or long term, house sharing can be a great way to meet new people and keep costs down. However sometimes things can go wrong with your flatmates, your landlord, or your accommodation. It helps to know your rights and obligations to help prevent problems from arising, and help you know what to do when things go wrong.

Issues with your landlord

If you think your landlord isn't following the rules, contact the Tenancy Services Compliance and Investigations team:

☎ 0800 836 262

📍 www.tenancy.govt.nz/starting-a-tenancy/new-to-tenancy/key-rights-and-responsibilities

Issues with your flatmates

Flatmates are not covered by the Residential Tenancies Act, and it can be difficult to resolve disagreements. We recommend signing a flat/house sharing agreement to make sure everyone understands their rights and responsibilities.

For advice and help on matters with your landlord, tenant or flatmates, you can also contact the below organisations.

Finding a place to rent

Flats range from one-bedroom apartment to four- or five-bedroom homes. Things you may want to pay attention to when you are looking for a room:

- Unfurnished, partially furnished or fully furnished
- Type of heating: gas, electric or fireplace and firewood
- Internet access
- Energy/power

You can find listings on local Facebook pages, newspapers, online media outlets, real estate and property management agents. Community noticeboards at supermarkets often list flats or can be used to display interest in renting a room/flat/house. Owners often use these noticeboards to see who is looking for rooms.

Buying a vehicle

Buying a vehicle is a popular choice for many people who move to New Zealand. You can find vehicles for sale on websites like 'TradeMe', local social media pages or by visiting vehicle dealers. There is no consumer protection for buying a car privately so it's important to have a vehicle inspection done before you buy one.

While vehicle insurance isn't compulsory in New Zealand, having third-party⁴ coverage as a minimum is highly recommended. There are many different insurance providers so look around to find what policy and price is best for you.

New Zealand Transport Agency (NZTA) is the government agency. By law, every vehicle must have an up-to-date WOF (Warrant of Fitness) and Registration (also known as a vehicle licence).

Emergency preparedness and safety

Like most of
New Zealand,
our district
is at risk of earthquakes,
storms, flooding,
landslides, and wildfires.

These can happen anywhere, anytime, often without warning, so it's important that you know how to keep yourself and your family safe in an emergency event.

DID YOU KNOW?

During an emergency event, follow official information and instructions from Otago Civil Defence Emergency Management and Queenstown Lakes District Council (QLDC). Check on your neighbours, particularly those most vulnerable, and help each other out.
